Foreword

Seventh International Conference on eLearning for Knowledge-Based Society

For the seventh year in a row, I am very proud that The International Journal of the Computer, the Internet and Management (IJCIM) has the privilege of publishing the Special Issue on eLearning. The Seventh International Conference on eLearning for Knowledge-Based Society includes 73 papers from 29 countries. To once again devote an entire issue to eLearning is thus an extraordinary opportunity for us.

Sample papers are on Recruiting Students for University-Level eLearning; A Framework to Understand Enablers and Inhibitors in a Learning Management System; A Freely Available Web Based Resources Designed for All; Learning Style, Culture, and Delivery Mode; E-Education in Refrigeration Technology; The Impacts and Efficacy of FaceBook as part of eLearning; Playing and Learning; An Empirical Investigation of Transition Management in Public Healthcare; Critical Aspects of Psychology in eLearning Implementation; Modified Khan eLearning Framework for the Iraqi Higher Education; and Quality and Effectiveness of eLearning Courses.

In my capacity as the Editor-in-Chief of the International Journal of the Computer, the Internet and Management, I would like to thank those who have made the Seventh International Conference on eLearning for Knowledge-based Society and its Proceedings possible. The main organizers are the Computer Association of Thailand under the Royal Patronage of HM the King, the Interdisciplinary Network of the Royal Institute of Thailand under the Royal Patronage of HRH Princess Maha Chakri Sirindhorn, and Asia Pacific eLearning Association. The supporters are Thailand Chapter of the ACM, Thailand Chapter of Computer Society of the IEEE, Thailand Chapter of the Internet Society, Thailand Internet Association, Association of Thai Internet Industry, Prof.Dr. Srisakdi Charmonman Foundation, and Assumption University with its College of Internet Distance Education. Also crucial has been our sponsoring organization SVOA Public Company Limited. Finally, I must also thank all of the members of the Organizing Committee, as well as the staff of the Office of Vice President for Information Technology of Assumption University, staff of College of Internet Distance Education, and staff of the IJCIM.
